

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910819912503321
Titolo	Local and community driven development : : moving to scale in theory and practice // Hans P. Binswanger-Mkhize, Jacomina P. de Regt, Stephen Spector, editors
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Washington, D.C. : , : World Bank, , c2010
ISBN	1-282-50206-9 9786612502064 0-8213-8195-4
Descrizione fisica	xxii, 248 pages : illustrations ; ; 23 cm
Collana	New frontiers of social policy
Altri autori (Persone)	Binswanger-MkhizeHans P. <1943-> RegtJacomina P. de SpectorStephen <1953->
Disciplina	307.1/4091724
Soggetti	Community development - Developing countries Economic development - Developing countries Local government - Developing countries
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Foreword: LCDD and the World Bank; About the Editors; Editors' Preface; Acknowledgments; Abbreviations; Chapter 1. Introduction and Executive Summary; FIGURES; BOXES; TABLES; Chapter 2. Historical Roots and Evolution of Community Driven Development; Chapter 3. Scaling Up Community Driven Development: Underpinnings and Program Design Implications; MAP; Chapter 4. Lessons from Africa; Chapter 5. Scaling Up, Step by Step: Analysis, Policy Reform, Pilot Phase, and Implementation; Appendix A. Operational Functions and Manuals, by Level Appendix B. Design Elements and Tools for Large-Scale LCDD Programs Appendix C. The Four Core Expected Outcomes of LCDD; References; Index
Sommario/riassunto	This book examines the conceptual foundations of participatory approaches to building local institutions and builds an analytical framework in which civic participation is viewed as a potential solution to specific civil society, market, and government failures. It then uses this framework to review the evidence on the efficacy of participatory approaches to problems of development and to identify the ways in which observed policy choices for inducing participation are intimately shaped and constrained by the historical, sociocultural, and political context. In assembling the evidence, the authors
