

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910819922703321
Autore	Cassell Eric J. <1928-2021.>
Titolo	The nature of suffering and the goals of medicine // Eric J. Cassell
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : Oxford University Press, 2004
ISBN	1-280-50243-6 0-19-974800-4 9786610502431 1-60256-743-3
Edizione	[2nd ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (336 p.)
Disciplina	610/.1
Soggetti	Medicine - Philosophy Suffering Physician and patient Palliative treatment
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 293-306) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Ideas in conflict: the rise and fall of new views of disease -- The changing concept of the ideal physician -- The nature of suffering -- Suffering in chronic illness -- The mysterious relationship between doctor and patient -- How to understand diseases -- The pursuit of disease or the care of the sick? -- Treating the disease, the body, or the patient -- The doctor and the patient -- Who is this person? -- The measure of the person -- The clinician's experience: power versus magic in medicine -- Mind and body -- The illness called dying -- Pain and suffering -- Epilogue: the care of the suffering patient.
Sommario/riassunto	This is a revised and expanded edition of a classic in palliative medicine, originally published in 1991. With three added chapters and a new preface summarizing our progress in the area of pain management, this is a must-have for those in palliative medicine and hospice care.