

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910820069303321
Autore	Simmons Thomas E. <1936->
Titolo	Escape from Archangel [[electronic resource]] : an American merchant seaman at war / / by Thomas E. Simmons
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Jackson, : University Press of Mississippi, c1990
ISBN	1-283-28246-1 9786613282460 1-61703-380-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (177 p.)
Disciplina	957.08/092 B
Soggetti	Merchant marine - United States Prisoners of war - Soviet Union Escapes - Russia (Federation) - Siberia - History - 20th century Siberia (Russia) History
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 167-168).
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Contents; Preface; Prologue: Just an Old Bridgetender?; Biloxi, 1936; Mama, I'm Going to Sea; Four Dollars, Thirty-Five Cents and a Sack Lunch; Harm's Way; Convoy; The Cold; Stowaway; Scotland; Old Hand; A Russian Captain; The Murmansk Run; Molotovsk; Twenty Minutes Too Late; Labor Camp; The Trains; You'll Die Out There; The Reindeer Spoke; In the Hands of Strangers; The Sea!; The Shetland Bus; Just What Were You Doing in Norway?; Home; Epilogue; Bibliography
Sommario/riassunto	James T. Currie relates in this thought-provoking work that between July 4, 1863, and the end of the Civil War in May 1865, Vicksburg and the plantations around it were an enclave of Union territory in the heart of the Confederacy. He also identifies many of the problems confronting the city during the late 1860's and indicates the means through which solutions were sought. The book is an intensive examination of Vicksburg and Warren County for the seven years from 1863 to 1870.