

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910820131703321
Autore	Covington Vicki
Titolo	Women in a man's world, crying [[electronic resource]] : essays // Vicki Covington
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Tuscaloosa, : University of Alabama Press, c2002
ISBN	0-8173-8269-0
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (175 p.)
Disciplina	813/.54 813/.54 B 814.54
Soggetti	Man-woman relationships - Southern States Novelists, American - 20th century Novelists, American - 20th century - Family relationships Women - Southern States Southern States Social life and customs
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Prologue; Girls and Women; Neighborhood; Death; The South; Spiritual Matters; Writing; Epilogue
Sommario/riassunto	This thoughtful, engaging collection showcases the best nonfiction prose produced by one of the nation's most observant and incisive writers. This collection of warm, heartfelt essays from award-winning novelist Vicki Covington chronicles the multitude of "in between" moments in the writer's life. These are her stolen moments in between the writing of four novels-Gathering Home, Bird of Paradise, Night Ride Home, and The Last Hotel for Women; in between coauthoring the edgy memoir Cleaving: The Story of a Marriage with her husband Dennis Covingto