

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910820546303321
Titolo	Teleosemantics : new philosophical essays // edited by Graham Macdonald and David Papineau
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Oxford ; ; New York, : Clarendon Press, 2006
ISBN	1-383-04135-0 1-280-75245-9 9786610752454 0-19-151505-1 1-4294-5938-7
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (241 p.)
Collana	Oxford scholarship online
Altri autori (Persone)	MacdonaldGraham PapineauDavid <1947->
Disciplina	121/.68
Soggetti	Semantics (Philosophy) Mechanism (Philosophy) Naturalism
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Formerly CIP. Previously issued in print: 2006.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	; Introduction: prospects and problems for teleosemantics / Graham Macdonald, David Papineau -- Language, modularity, and evolution / Kim Sterelny -- Mental representation, naturalism, and teleosemantics / Peter Godfrey-Smith -- Representation, teleosemantics, and the problem of self-knowledge / Fred Dretske -- The epistemological objection to opaque teleological theories of content / Frank Jackson -- Useless content / Ruth Millikan -- On thinking of kinds: a neuroscientific perspective / Dan Ryder -- Teleosemantics and the consumer / Mohan Matthen -- Content for cognitive science / Karen Neander -- Representation and unexploited content / Robert Cummins ... [et al.] -- Fearing fluffy: the content of an emotional appraisal / Carolyn Price.
Sommario/riassunto	'Teleosemantics' seeks to explain meaning and other intentional phenomena in terms of their function in the life of the species. This volume of new essays from a line-up of well-known contributors offers a summary of the current state of the teleosemantics debate.

---