1.	Record Nr.	UNINA9910821812603321
	Autore	Ayoob Mohammed <1942-, >
	Titolo	India and Southeast Asia : Indian perceptions and policies / / Mohammed Ayoob
	Pubbl/distr/stampa	London ; ; New York : , : Published under the auspices of the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, Singapore by Routledge, , 1990
	ISBN	0-415-70672-6 0-415-70673-4 1-280-33818-0 0-203-40623-0 0-203-32555-9 0-415-03894-4
	Edizione	[1st ed.]
	Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (116 p.)
	Collana	International politics in Asia series
	Disciplina	327.54
	Soggetti	International relations Southeast Asia Foreign relations India India Foreign relations Southeast Asia India Foreign relations 1947-1984 India Foreign relations 1984-
	Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
	Formato	Materiale a stampa
	Livello bibliografico	Monografia
	Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
	Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
	Nota di contenuto	INDIA AND SOUTHEAST ASIA Indian Perceptions and Policies; Copyright; Contents; Preface; 1 India's Foreign Policy Framework and Strategic Perspective; 2 Southeast Asia's Importance in Indian Foreign Policy: the Background; 3 Southeast Asia in Indian Foreign Policy: Moving into the 1980's; 4 India, China, and Southeast Asia; 5 India, Indonesia, and Vietnam: Coincidence of Interests?; 6 India and the Kampuchean Issue; 7 India, the Superpowers, and Southeast Asia; 8 India and Southeast Asia: Concluding Remarks; Index
	Sommario/riassunto	India has espoused the notion of building 'South-South' relations with other developing countries in recent years. The ASEAN countries, in particular, have come to play an important part in India's trade and policy considerations over the last decade. This book argues that India is responding strongly to the growth of the Asia-Pacific region which is now of elevated importance in India's strategic and foreign policy calculations. India and Southeast Asia provides a close contextual analysis of India's interests and perceptions in the region during the 40 years of independence, putt