

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910821959703321
Autore	Dalziel Paul
Titolo	Wellbeing economics : future directions for New Zealand / / Paul Dalziel, Caroline Saunders
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Wellington, New Zealand : , : Bridget Williams Books Limited, , 2014 ©2014
ISBN	1-927277-01-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (82 p.)
Disciplina	306.3
Soggetti	Economics - Sociological aspects Health behavior - Economic aspects New Zealand Economic policy New Zealand Social policy
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Preface; 1 Wellbeing Economics; Wellbeing Economics; The Capabilities Approach of Amartya Sen; Time-Use Choices and Market Production; Value-Added Activities and the Structure of the Book; 2 Leading Lives We Have Reason to Value; The Time Use Survey; Housing and Wellbeing; Childcare and Wellbeing; Cultural Capital; 3 Living Well in Communities; Community Organisations and Wellbeing; Social Capital and Wellbeing; Local Government and Wellbeing; Natural Capital and Wellbeing; Co-production of Local Government Services; 4 Value through Enterprise and Skills Market Production and Wellbeing Physical Capital and Wellbeing; Market Employment and Wellbeing; Labour Market Skills and Wellbeing; Human Capital and Wellbeing; 5 Public Service to Expand Capabilities; Te Tiriti o Waitangi and Wellbeing; Taxation and Wellbeing; Market Regulation and Wellbeing; Equity and Wellbeing; Infrastructure and Wellbeing; The Public Service and Wellbeing; 6 Future Directions for New Zealand; A Wellbeing Example; Value-Added Activities; Skills and Education; The Living Standards Framework and Better Public Services; From Welfare State to Wellbeing State Notes and Further Reading Chapter 1; Chapter 2; Chapter 3; Chapter 4;

Sommario/riassunto

Seventy-five years after Labour's social security reforms of the 1930's, it is time for a major shift in how New Zealand regards the wellbeing of its people.