

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910822441903321
Autore	Martin Lori Latrice
Titolo	Big box schools : race, education, and the danger of the Wal-martization of public schools in America / / Lori Latrice Martin
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham : , : Lexington Books, , [2015] ©2015
ISBN	9781498510424 1-4985-1042-6 1-4985-1041-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (187 p.)
Collana	Race and education in the twenty-first century
Disciplina	371.829/96073
Soggetti	Racism in education - United States Public schools - Economic aspects - United States Privatization in education - Social aspects - United States African Americans - Social conditions
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Public schools and pathways to prosperity -- History of race and public education in America -- Education as a profit machine -- Race, public education and the Wal-mart model -- Education and today's black working-class: low quality, low prices, low wages -- Does Common Core make common sense? -- Plutocracies the displacement of indigenous organizations and educational leaders -- Fighting back: changing trajectory of public education in America -- Worth the fight.
Sommario/riassunto	Big Box Schools examines the current educational reform movement and the negative impact of the adoption of the big box business model to public education, especially on students, families, and communities of color for whom the public school system is the only option.