

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910822619203321
Titolo	Family violence : communication processes // edited by Dudley D. Cahn
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Albany, : State University of New York Press, c2009
ISBN	0-7914-9383-0 1-4416-0494-4
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (243 p.)
Collana	SUNY series in communication studies
Altri autori (Persone)	CahnDudley D
Disciplina	362.82/92014
Soggetti	Family violence - United States Communication in families - United States Wife abuse - United States Child abuse - United States Dating violence - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	An evolving communication perspective on family violence / Dudley D. Cahn -- Relational control-motivated aggression: a theoretical framework for identifying various types of violent couples / Loreen N. Olson -- Making sense of abuse: account analyses of male batterers / Teresa C. Sabourin -- Measuring change in attitudes targeted by batterer intervention programs / Maria Elena Villar, Victoria Orrego-Dunleavy, Joan Svaldi Farr -- Exploring the communication of men revealing abuse from female romantic partners / Jessica J. Eckstein -- Seeing family violence differently: shifting perspectives from social scientific to rhetorical / Suzanne M. Enck-Wanzer -- A communication perspective on physical child abuse / Angela B. Swanson, Dudley D. Cahn -- Distinguishing communication behaviors of mothers high and low in trait verbal aggression: a qualitative analysis of mother-child playtime interactions / Felicia Roberts ... [et al.] -- Adolescent-to-parent abuse: abused parents' perceptions of the meaning and goals of adolescents' verbal, physical, and emotional abuse / Nancy J. Brule -- Forgiving the unforgivable? Processes of forgiveness and reconciliation after episodes of family violence / Ruth Anna Abigail.

Sommario/riassunto

Contributors engage the communication issues associated with violence in families, including interspousal violence and violent parents and children.
