

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910823580403321
Autore	Brown Gordon S. <1936->
Titolo	Toussaint's clause [[electronic resource]] : the founding fathers and the Haitian revolution / / Gordon S. Brown
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Jackson, : University Press of Mississippi, c2005
ISBN	1-283-43464-4 9786613434647 1-60473-697-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (334 p.)
Collana	Adst-Dacor Diplomats and Diplomacy Book
Disciplina	327.7307294/09/033
Soggetti	United States Foreign relations 1789-1809 United States Foreign relations Haiti Haiti Foreign relations United States Haiti History Revolution, 1791-1804
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	"An ADST-DACOR diplomats and diplomacy book."
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 310-315) and index.
Nota di contenuto	July 1790 -- St. Domingue -- White cockade, red cockade -- The cost of neutrality -- Trouble with Britain -- Trouble with France -- Toussaint's clause -- Creating a quarantine -- The St. Domingo station -- Jefferson equivocates -- The Leclerc expedition -- St. Domingo and Louisiana -- A risky trade -- The clearance act debate -- The trade suspended -- Embargo and neglect -- Epilogue.
Sommario/riassunto	In its formative years, America, birthplace of a revolution, wrestled with a volatile dilemma. John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton, and many other founding fathers clashed. What was to be the new republic's strategy toward a revolution roiling just off its shores? From 1790 to 1810, the disagreement reverberated far beyond Caribbean waters and American coastal ports. War between France and Britain, the great powers of the time, raged on the seas and in Europe. America watched aghast as its trading partner Haiti, a rich hothouse of sugar plantations and French colonial profit, expl