

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910824329203321
Autore	Thompson J. Lee <1951->
Titolo	A wider patriotism : Alfred Milner and the British Empire // by J. Lee Thompson
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Abingdon, Oxon : , : Routledge, , 2016
ISBN	1-315-65313-3 1-317-31515-4 1-281-12499-0 9786611124991 1-85196-545-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (265 pages) : digital, PDF file(s)
Collana	Empires in perspective ; ; 2
Disciplina	941.083092
Soggetti	Statesmen - Great Britain Colonial administrators - Great Britain Colonial administrators - South Africa South Africa History 1836-1909 Great Britain Politics and government 1837-1901 Great Britain Politics and government 1901-1936 Great Britain Colonies
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	First published 2007 by Pickering & Chatto (Publishers) Limited.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Part I. A question about which I have never been able to see the other side -- Part II. Civilian soldier of the empire : South Africa -- Part III. Constructive imperialism -- Part IV. Imperialism on the anvil.
Sommario/riassunto	When Alfred Milner (1854-1925) was knighted, he took as his motto Communis Patria , 'patriotism for our common country'. By this he meant the wider patriotism of the British Empire, the furthering of which he made his life's work. This is the first study of Milner to take his politics, or 'constructive' imperialism as its primary theme. His career is examined as a whole, from the genesis of his imperial ideology at Oxford, through his time as High Commissioner in South Africa during the Boer War, to his days as Minister of War during the final seven months of the First World War. Famously, Milner propagated his ideas through his 'kindergarten', a group of like-minded young male acolytes. In this fascinating book, J Lee Thompson also discovers a group of young female supporters of his vision. This book is based on extensive primary research in archives in the UK, North America and South Africa.
