1. Record Nr.   UNINA9910824486103321

   Titolo   Exploring the lexis-grammar interface / / edited by Ute Romer, Rainer Schulze

   Pubbl/distr/stampa Amsterdam ; ; Philadelphia, : John Benjamins Pub. Company, 2008

   ISBN   1-282-10493-4
                     9786612104930
                     90-272-8980-8

   Edizione   [1st ed.]

   Descrizione fisica vi, 321 p

   Collana   Studies in corpus linguistics, , 1388-0373 ; ; v. 35

   Altri autori (Persone) RomerUte
                     SchulzeRainer

   Disciplina   415

   Soggetti   Corpora (Linguistics)
                     Lexicology
                     Grammaticality (Linguistics)
                     Linguistic analysis (Linguistics)

   Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese

   Formato   Materiale a stampa

   Livello bibliografico Monografia

   Note generali   "Results from a conference that was held under the title of the present volume at the Leibniz University of Hanover, Germany, from October 5-7, 2006".

   Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references and index.

   Nota di contenuto Zooming in / Rainer Schulze and Ute Romer -- Technology and phraseology: with notes on the history of corpus linguistics / Michael Stubbs -- Corpus-driven approaches to grammar: the search for common ground / Michael Hoey -- Valency: item-specificity and idiom principle / Thomas Herbst -- Fowler's Modern English usage at the interface of lexis and grammar / Ulrich Busse and Anne Schroder --
                     The psycholinguistic reality of collocation and semantic prosody (1): lexical access / Nick C. Ellis, Eric Frey and Isaac Jalkanen -- The lexicogrammar of present-day Indian English: corpus-based perspectives on structural nativisation / Joybrato Mukherjee -- The semantic and grammatical overlap of as and that: evidence from non-standard English / Daniela Kolbe -- The historical development of the verb doubt and its various patterns of complementation / Yoko Iyeiri --
                     The grammatical properties of recurrent phrases with body-part nouns:
                     the N1 to N1 pattern / Hans Lindquist and Magnus Levin -- A corpus-based investigation of cognate object constructions / Silke Hoche -- Revisiting the evidence for objects in English / Matthias I.G. Meyer -- Lexico-functional categories and complex collocations: the case of intensifiers / Silvia Cacchiani -- Polysemy and lexical priming: the case of drive / Fanie Tsiamita -- Local textual functions of move in newspaper story patterns / Michaela Mahlberg -- Loud signatures: comparing evaluative discourse styles: patterns in rants and riffs / Alison Duguid.

Sommario/riassunto	This volume showcases studies that recognize and provide evidence for the inseparability of lexis and grammar. The contributors explore in what ways these two areas, often treated separately in linguistic theory and description, form an organic whole. The papers in Section I (Setting the Scene) introduce some of the key methodological approaches and theoretical positions at the lexis-grammar interface, while Section II (Considering the Particulars) contains papers that report on case studies and show concrete applications of the central methods and theories. Exploring the Lexis-Grammar Interface is a stimulating collection of papers for anyone who wishes to learn more about and get fresh state-of-the-art perspectives on language patterning.