

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910825380703321
Titolo	Toward a feminist philosophy of economics // edited by Drucilla K. Barker and Edith Kuiper
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London ; ; New York, : Routledge, 2003
ISBN	0-429-23142-3 1-134-45448-1 1-280-02240-X 0-203-42269-4
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (366 p.)
Collana	Economics as social theory
Altri autori (Persone)	BarkerDrucilla K. <1949-> KuiperEdith <1960->
Disciplina	330/.082
Soggetti	Feminist economics Economics - Philosophy Women - Economic conditions
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Book Cover; Title; Contents; List of illustrations; Notes on contributors; Acknowledgments; Introduction: sketching the contours of a feminist philosophy of economics; Rereading history; Into the margin!; Hazel Kyrk and the ethics of consumption; Feminist fiction and feminist economics: Charlotte Perkins Gilman on efficiency; Beyond markets: wage setting and the methodology of feminist political economy; Science stories and feminist economics; Some implications of the feminist project in economics for empirical methodology Foregrounding practices: feminist philosophy of economics beyond rhetoric and realismAfter objectivism vs. relativism; How did ~the moral~ get split from ~the economic~?; Constructing masculine/Western identity in economics; The construction of masculine identity in Adam Smith's Theory of Moral Sentiments; Social classifications, social statistics, and the ~facts~ of ~difference~ in economics; Reading neoclassical economics: toward an erotic economy of sharing; The anxious identities
Sommario/riassunto	This book edited by two of the most respected figures in feminist economics is a welcome collection that charts and critically analyses how other movements have influenced the development of feminist economics as a distinct discipline.
