

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910826289903321
Autore	Milroy Beth Moore <1940->
Titolo	Thinking, planning and urbanism // Beth Moore Milroy
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Vancouver, : UBC Press, c2009
ISBN	0-7748-1615-5 0-7748-1616-3
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (334 p.)
Disciplina	307.1/21609713541
Soggetti	City planning - Ontario - Toronto Sociology, Urban - Ontario - Toronto
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Opening -- History / with Nik Luka -- Regeneration -- Redeveloping -- Defending -- Implementing -- Closing -- App.1. Selected elements of the planning framework -- App.2. Chronology -- App.3. Basic characteristics of the planning area -- App.4. Socioeconomic information about the planning area -- App.5. Seven development options, Yonge and Dundas area, December 1996 -- App.6. Financial plan and costing scenarios, Yonge and Dundas area, December 1995 -- App.7. Issues raised at public meetings and via correspondence regarding the redevelopment scheme, spring 1997 -- App.8. Bylaws before the Joint Board -- App.9. Decision of the Joint Board, jurisdiction, conclusions and findings, decision and conditions, and obiter dicta -- App.10. Sample calendar of events at Nathan Phillips Square January to July 2000.
Sommario/riassunto	" 'Thinking planning and urbanism' reconstructs the process of an urban core area redevelopment in order to show how city planning was involved in the decisions taken... This book exposes the cracks in planning itself, revealing how its theories - based on the premise that space is a social construction - do not help practising planners, who need a broader understanding of urbanism in which to find and persuasively argue for creative solutions to pedestrian problems."--P. [4] of cover.

