

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910826457903321
Autore	Lohuis Peter J. F. M
Titolo	Advanced caucasian and mediterranean rhinoplasty // Peter JFM Lohuis ; design, Willem Driebergen ; illustrations, Karin Spijker ; foreword by Egbert H. Huizing, Shan R. Baker, Gilbert J. Nolst Trenite
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Amsterdam, Netherlands : , : Kugler Publications, , 2014 ©2014
ISBN	90-6299-866-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (466 p.)
Disciplina	617.5230592
Soggetti	Rhinoplasty Nose - Surgery
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	""11. POSTOPERATIVECONSIDERATIONS""""12. SPECIAL PROBLEMS""; ""13. CASES""; ""14. NASALRECONSTRUCTION""; ""15. References""
Sommario/riassunto	PrefaceIn line with Darwin's theory of evolution from 1859, three ingredients have determined the evolution in rhinoplasty during the last century: variation, reproduction and pressure. On the shoulders of giants, a variety of philosophies and rhinoplasty techniques were consistently developed and modified. These techniques were reproduced by text books and journals as well as during conferences, working visits, and fellowship programs. Pressure, the result of both the drive of the surgeon and the high demands of patients seeking rhinoplasty, has subsequently increased the level of rhinoplasti