

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910827206003321
Autore	Johnson Cedric <1971->
Titolo	Revolutionaries to race leaders [[electronic resource]] : Black power and the making of African American politics // Cedric Johnson
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Minneapolis, : University of Minnesota Press, c2007
ISBN	0-8166-5373-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (336 p.)
Disciplina	322.4089/96073
Soggetti	African Americans - Politics and government - 20th century Black power - United States - History - 20th century Radicalism - United States - History - 20th century African American leadership - History - 20th century African American political activists - History - 20th century African American intellectuals - History - 20th century Revolutionaries - United States - History - 20th century United States Race relations Political aspects History 20th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction : all power to the people? -- Black power and African American politics -- The "Negro revolution" and Cold War America : revolutionary politics and racial conservatism in the work of Harold Cruse -- Return of the native : Amiri Baraka (Leroi Jones), the new nationalism, and Black power politics -- The convention strategy and conventional politics : the 1972 Gary convention and the limits of racial unity -- From popular anti-imperialism to sectarianism : the African Liberation Day mobilizations and radical intellectuals -- Radical departures : the National Black Political Assembly, the National Black Independent Political Party, and the struggle for alternatives -- Conclusion : the ends of Black politics.
Sommario/riassunto	Exploring the major political and intellectual currents from the Black Power era to the present, Cedric Johnson reveals how black political life conformed to liberal democratic capitalism and how the movement's most radical aims were eclipsed by more moderate aspirations. Documenting the historical retreat from democratic struggle,

Revolutionaries to Race Leaders ultimately calls for the renewal of popular resistance and class-conscious politics.
