

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910827304703321
Titolo	British library and information schools [[electronic resource]] : towards 100 years of educating the information professional at UCL SLAIS / / guest editors: Andy Dawson and David Brown
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Bradford, England, : Emerald Group Publishing, c2006
ISBN	1-280-50690-3 9786610506903 1-84544-925-8
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (117 p.)
Collana	Aslib proceedings ; ; v. 58, no. 1/2
Altri autori (Persone)	BrownDavid DawsonAndy
Disciplina	020/.6/2
Soggetti	Library education Library science
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; CONTENTS; EDITORIAL ADVISORY BOARD; Editorial; Learning, community give library and information associations a bright future; Technoschism: the real world and libraries, librarians and our associations; Library associations in South Africa, 1930-2005; IFLA: looking to the future; CILIP: a twenty-first century association for the information profession?; The role of the library associations and organisations in the changing library landscape; Te Wero: the challenge to reposition a library association; National library associations as reflected in their codes of ethics A united voice: library associations' challenge for the future in Finland Continuing professional development and workplace learning - 14; Book reviews
Sommario/riassunto	Just as the library profession is being challenged by the 'Google-phenomenon' so too are library associations. Where the library is being challenged by the breakdown of the 'physical library', so too is the library association. When it is clearly the case that the public view of libraries is that they are no longer relevant in a digital age, so we find the library associations searching for relevance. This collection of articles, as well as additional pieces to come in the issues to come, explore the complex analyses and responses by professional colleagues across the globe. The articles e
