

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910827595803321
Autore	Gargiulo Gerald J
Titolo	Broken fathers/broken sons [[electronic resource] ] : a psychoanalyst remembers // Gerald J. Gargiulo
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Amsterdam ; ; New York, : Rodopi, 2008
ISBN	90-420-2841-6 1-4356-2713-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (160 p.)
Collana	Contemporary psychoanalytic studies, , 1571-4977 ; ; 7
Disciplina	155.6462
Soggetti	Monasticism and religious orders
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Preliminary Material -- Remembering Humpty -- Carmelite Passage -- Finding a Voice -- Mother Earth -- Talking Memories -- Running -- Interlude: Of Elephants and Kings -- Bridges -- Holding Dreams -- Dancing with God -- The Dreaming Knight -- Grieving Lilacs -- Finding My Father -- Memory and Time -- End Thoughts -- Epilogue: (Summer 2002) -- Poems For Late Night Reading (A few more selections) -- About The Author.
Sommario/riassunto	This memoir is a story of loss and gain, of alienation and reconciliation, and of how such experiences go into the making of a psychoanalyst. In sharing his own very troubled family history, his decade as a Carmelite monk, his marriage and career as a psychoanalyst, Gargiulo shows how the diverse pieces of one's life can fit together into something that is meaningful and real. This is one person's life - but it relates to us all. "We are bound together, each of us," the author writes, "in our living, our troubles and our joys. As we hear another's story, we are, simultaneously, writing our own autobiography."