

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910828530303321
Autore	Bissell Claude Thomas <1916-2000, >
Titolo	Halfway up Parnassus : a personal account of the University of Toronto 1932-1971 // Claude Bissell
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Toronto ; ; Buffalo : , : University of Toronto Press, , 1974 ©1974
ISBN	1-4426-3373-5 1-4426-3205-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (197 pages) : 1 illustration
Collana	Heritage
Disciplina	378.713/541
Soggetti	History
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Includes index.
Nota di contenuto	Frontmatter -- Contents -- Preface -- 1. The Great Good Place -- 2. Halfway up Parnassus -- 3. The Expansive Mood -- 4. College Ties -- 5. The Higher Learning -- 6. The Professional Schools -- 7. The Winds of Change -- 8. Student Power -- 9. The Real Revolution -- 10. Final Reckonings -- Index
Sommario/riassunto	Halfway up Parnassus is a personal account of the University of Toronto with particular emphasis on the period when Dr. Bissell was its president, from 1958 to 1971. The first half of that period was the flowering of the old, self-confident university, with its established patterns of government, and its untroubled constituents. The second half saw the slow, powerful emergence of a new university, uncertain of itself and its role, seeking to find a form for democratic aspirations--not, however, without some dramatic confrontations with left-wing students. Nowhere in Canada was the process more sharply defined than at the University of Toronto. This book records that process from the point of view of a major participant. It is also intended as a series of portraits of major academic figures and as an intimate recollection of a society that is passing away. It is not a philosophical book about education, but a human document--an attempt to render the tone of academic society, and in this account Dr. Bissell has combined, to great effect, autobiography, descriptive narration, and historical analysis. The book will be of interest to Canadians concerned about our intellectual and cultural life, and to academic societies everywhere.
