

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910828867703321
Autore	Eisele Thomas D. <1948->
Titolo	Bitter knowledge : learning Socratic lessons of disillusion and renewal / / Thomas D. Eisele
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Notre Dame, Ind., : University of Notre Dame Press, c2009
ISBN	0-268-07863-7
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (369 p.)
Disciplina	183/.2
Soggetti	Questioning
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 327-336) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction: Participating in disillusion and renewal -- Who can teach us? And what can they teach us? Socrates recounts his conversations in the Protagoras -- The poverty of Socratic questioning : asking and answering in the Meno -- The labor of Socratic inquiry : learning in the Theaetetus to give an account of oneself -- Learning to find ourselves at a loss : how does philosophy begin? -- Epilogue: Realities of the classroom.
Sommario/riassunto	Bitter Knowledge examines the Socratic method in three fundamental Platonic dialogues, Protagoras, Meno, and Theaetetus, contending that the method is really a cyclical one of disillusionment and renewal.