1.	Record Nr.	UNINA9910829973603321
	Titolo	Restoring civil societies [[electronic resource]] : the psychology of intervention and engagement following crisis / / edited by Kai J. Jonas and Thomas A. Morton
	Pubbl/distr/stampa	Chichester, England, : Wiley-Blackwell, c2012
	ISBN	1-299-38587-7 1-118-34766-8 1-118-34765-X 1-118-34768-4
	Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (330 p.)
	Collana	Social Issues and Interventions
	Classificazione	PSY031000
	Altri autori (Persone)	JonasKai J MortonThomas A
	Disciplina	300 302
	Soggetti	Civil society Civil society - Psychological aspects
	Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
	Formato	Materiale a stampa
	Livello bibliografico	Monografia
	Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
	Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
	Nota di contenuto	Restoring Civil Societies: The Psychology of Intervention and Engagement Following Crisis; Contents; Notes on Contributors; Series Editor's Preface; 1 Introduction; Civil Societies in Crisis; Reflection on Core Concepts; Crisis; Restoring; Civil; Society; Actors and Targets for Intervention; Content and Structure; Theory-Based Chapters; Application and Intervention-Based Chapters; How Should This Book Be Read?; Conclusion; References; Part I: Theoretical Approaches; 2 Justice Sensitivity as Resource or Risk Factor in Civic Engagement; The Psychology of Justice; Perceptions of Injustice Reactions to Perceived InjusticeIndividual Differences in Justice Sensitivity; Perspectives on Injustice; Consequences of Justice Sensitivity in the Aftermath of Crises; Conclusion; References; 3 Regulating Psychological Threat: The Motivational Consequences of Threatening Contexts; Control and Order Motivation; Threats to Order and Control; The Effect of Threat on Religious and Scientific Belief Systems; The Effect of Threat on Belief in Societal and Scientific

Sommario/riassunto	Restoring Civil Societies examines the role of civic engagement as a form of prosocial behavior motivated by a commitment to higher-order norms. Civic engagement-from bystander intervention to organizing collective activity-is distinguished as a collective effort by which individuals re-institute the civil basis of society in the wake of a social rupture, whether from war, natural disaster, or other causes. Restoring Civil Societies fills the gap between basic research on social issues and the translation into social policy or program interventions.