

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910955718103321
Autore	Bahr Donald M
Titolo	How mockingbirds are : O'odham ritual orations / / Donald Bahr
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Albany, : State University of New York Press, c2011
ISBN	9781438435275 1438435274 9781441697851 1441697853
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (187 p.)
Collana	North American native peoples, past and present
Disciplina	979.1004/974552
Soggetti	Indian mythology - Arizona Indian mythology - Mexico - Sonora (State) Pima Indians - Arizona - Rites and ceremonies Pima Indians - Mexico - Sonora (State) - Rites and ceremonies Speeches, addresses, etc., Indian - Arizona Speeches, addresses, etc., Indian - Mexico - Sonora (State) Tohono O'odham Indians - Arizona - Rites and ceremonies Tohono O'odham Indians - Mexico - Sonora (State) - Rites and ceremonies Arizona Social life and customs Sonora (Mexico : State) Social life and customs
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 163-164) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction: The O'odham mockingbird texts, the background, and the argument -- The origin stories behind the wine drinks -- The ceremonies -- The speeches -- The mockingbird, big talker or rain doctor? -- Summary and conclusions -- Appendix 1: Two non-O'odham stories for comparison -- Appendix 2: Vanyiko's matches for all of the portions of Thin Leather's speech -- Appendix 3: Chart of the texts; orations and stories.
Sommario/riassunto	Brilliant analysis of the power of ritual orations in a southwestern American Indian community.

