

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910957771803321
Autore	Itakura Hiroko
Titolo	Conversational dominance and gender : a study of Japanese speakers in first and second language contexts / / Hiroko Itakura
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Amsterdam ; ; Philadelphia, : J. Benjamins Pub. Co., c2001
ISBN	9786612162442 9781282162440 1282162446 9789027298102 9027298106
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (xvii, 227 pages)
Collana	Pragmatics & beyond ; ; new ser., v. 89
Disciplina	495.6/01/41
Soggetti	Japanese language - Discourse analysis Japanese language - Sex differences Dominance (Psychology)
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [205]-220) and indexes.
Nota di contenuto	Conversational Dominance and Gender -- Editorial page -- Title page -- LCC data -- Contents -- Acknowledgements -- List of tables -- Transcription notation -- List of abbreviations -- Chapter 1 Introduction -- Chapter 2 Gender, dominance and pragmatic transfer -- Chapter 3 Analysing conversational dominance -- Chapter 4 Empirical study -- Chapter 5 Dimensions of conversational dominance -- Chapter 6 Conversational dominance, styles, strategies and pragmatic transfer -- Appendix 1 Topic sheet -- Appendix 2 Number of turns used for quantitative analysis -- References -- Name index -- Subject index.
Sommario/riassunto	This book investigates the notion of conversational dominance in depth, and seeks to establish a systematic method of analysing it. It also offers a new insight into the role of gender and the pragmatic transfer of conversational norms in the first and second language conversations among native speakers of Japanese. Drawing upon a critical synthesis of insights from several different fields, including Conversation Analysis, the Birmingham school of discourse analysis, and dialogical analysis, the author proposes an innovative analytical framework for operationalising the concept of dominance in conversation. She then applies this framework to the empirical analysis of Japanese speakers' L1 and L2 conversations, finding direct evidence for the important role of gender and pragmatic transfer in conversational dominance. By integrating quantitative and qualitative approaches to discourse analysis, the author offers a new perspective into the pragmatic transfer of conversational norms. She does so by demonstrating how the notion of self-oriented and other-oriented conversational styles and strategies can affect the level of transfer of interactional behaviour differently for male and female speakers.

---