

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910958981403321
Titolo	Community oriented policing : background and issues // Jake V. Burke, editor
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : Nova Science Publishers, c2010
ISBN	1-61324-258-1
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (252 p.)
Collana	Social issues, justice and status
Altri autori (Persone)	BurkeJake V
Disciplina	363.2/3
Soggetti	Community policing - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Community oriented policing services (COPS) : current legislative issues / James Nathan -- Community policing defined / United States Dept. of Justice -- Community policing : looking to tomorrow / Drew Diamond, Deirdre Mead Weiss -- Community oriented policing services (COPS) : background, legislation, and funding / James Nathan -- Innovations in police recruitment and hiring : hiring in the spirit of service / Ellen Scrivner.
Sommario/riassunto	Community policing seeks to improve public safety and the quality of life for all persons within the community. This book focuses on how police and city leaders can continue to strengthen and add value to local community police efforts.