

---

Sommario/riassunto

This book, edited by Xu Linqi, presents selections from ancient Chinese classics, specifically the Four Books and the Five Classics, including The Great Learning, Doctrine of the Mean, and Mencius. It provides insights into Confucian philosophy and teachings, focusing on virtues, ethics, and governance. The text includes translations and annotations to aid modern readers in understanding these traditional works. The book is intended for scholars, students, and individuals interested in Chinese cultural heritage, aiming to promote the appreciation and understanding of classical Chinese literature and philosophy.

---