

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910963393703321
Autore	Taft William H (William Howard), <1857-1930.>
Titolo	Papers on League of Nations // edited with commentary by Frank X. Gerrity
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Athens, Ohio, : Ohio University Press, 2003
ISBN	0-8214-4181-7
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (326 p.)
Collana	The collected works of William Howard Taft ; ; v. 7
Altri autori (Persone)	GerrityFrank X. <1923-2001.>
Disciplina	352.23/8/097309041 s 341.22
Soggetti	Peace
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Previously published: New York : Macmillan, 1920.
Nota di contenuto	Intro -- Taft Papers on League of Nations Commentary Frank X. Gerrity -- Contents -- Foreword to the Original Edition -- Introduction -- 1 League to Enforce Peace -- 2 Victory Program -- 3 The Paris Covenant for a League of Nations -- 4 Plan for a League of Nations to Enforce Peace -- 5 Proposals of the League to Enforce Peace -- 6 Constitutionality of the Proposals -- 7 A Constructive Plan for Human Betterment -- 8 The Purposes of the League -- 9 Statement Made at Richmond, Virginia, March21, 1917 -- 10 The Menace of a Premature Peace -- 11 World Peace Debate -- 12 Victory with Power -- 13 Our Purpose -- 14 Self Determination -- 15 Peril in Hun Peace Offer -- 16 The Obligations of Victory -- 17 Workingmen and the League -- 18 A League of Nations Our National Policy -- 19 Why a League of Nations Is Necessary -- 20 Lesser League of Nations -- 21 Disarmament of Nations and Freedom of the Seas -- 22 The League of Nations and the German Colonies -- 23 The League of Nations and Religious Liberty -- 24 President Wilson and the League of Nations -- 25 Senator Lodge on the League of Nations -- 26 The League: Why and How -- 27 From an Article in the Public Ledger -- 28 Representation in the League -- 29 Criticism Should Be Constructive -- 30 Roosevelt's Contribution to League of Nations -- 31 The League of Nations, What It Means and Why It Must Be -- 32 League of Nations and President Wilson's Advisers -- 33 "The League of Nations Is Here" -- 34 The League's "Bite" -- 35 The League of Nations and the German Colonies -- 36 From an Address at the Atlantic Congress for a League of Nations, New York -- 37 Ireland and the League -- 38 The Great Covenant of Paris -- 39 To Business Men -- 40 From an Address at San Francisco -- 41 From an Address at Salt Lake City -- 42 League of Nations as Barrier to Any Great Wars in Future.

43 The Paris Covenant for a League of Nations -- 44 Answer to Senator Knox's Indictment -- 45 Paris Covenant Has Teeth -- 46 To Make Peace Secure -- 47 League of Nations Has Not Delayed Peace -- 48 "Open Diplomacy" Slow -- 49 Russia, France, Danzig -- 50 The Round Robin -- 51 Guaranties of Article X -- 52 Religious and Racial Freedom -- 53 Secret Treaty Provisions That Are at the Root of the Crisis at the Paris Conference -- 54 Analysis of the League Covenant as Amended -- 55 Correspondence.

---

Sommario/riassunto

The third volume of The Collected Works of William Howard Taft imparts an appreciation of the range of the twenty-seventh president's interests. Beginning with his inaugural address and concluding with a detailed exposition of governmental expenses and needed economies, President William Howard Taft showed himself willing to tackle the routine as well as the rarified responsibilities of executive rule. Whether he was addressing the issue of strikes and labor unions or conservation, President Taft consistently demonstrated that, in word and action, he was prepared to be a modern president. What impresses the reader of these remarks is Taft's willingness to administer to virtually every part of the nation, thereby proving that he was not a mere figurehead but a chief executive truly concerned about problems across the country. Perhaps, as his words here indicate, Taft was not a good politician after all but a kind man who saw himself as president of all the people. As the first of two volumes directly related to Taft's tenure as president, Presidential Addresses and State Papers documents a pivotal time in the public life of this man from Ohio. Introduced by a commentary from the general series editor Professor David H. Burton, the third volume of The Collected Works of William Howard Taft underscores the presidential stature of William Howard Taft.

---