

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910966495303321
Autore	Chamberlain John M
Titolo	Doctoring medical governance : medical self-regulation in transition // John M. Chamberlain
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : Nova Science Publishers, c2009
ISBN	1-61728-373-8
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (180 p.)
Collana	Social issues, justice and status series
Disciplina	610
Soggetti	Medicine - Great Britain Physicians - Great Britain Professional socialization
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	From ancient beginnings to the 1858 Medical Act -- From club governance to stakeholder regulation -- The sociological analysis of the principle of medical self-regulation -- The restratification thesis and challenges to medical autonomy in the UK -- Performance appraisal inside the medical club -- The governance of doctors under neo-liberal mentalities of rule.
Sommario/riassunto	This volume is concerned with the sociological analysis of the professions and professional self-regulation. This is the view that professionals such as doctors should be left alone to manage their own affairs in regards to members training, practice and discipline.