

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910966648203321
Autore	Bliss Michael
Titolo	Harvey Cushing : a life in surgery / / Michael Bliss
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : Oxford University Press, 2005
ISBN	0-19-061371-8 0-19-770695-9 1-280-53453-2 0-19-534695-5 1-4294-0344-6
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (xii, 591 pages) : illustrations
Collana	Oxford scholarship online
Disciplina	617/.092 B
Soggetti	Neurosurgeons - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Formerly CIP. Previously issued in print: 2005.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Opening: the surgeon and the general -- Western Reserve: the Cushings of Cleveland -- Making a Yale man -- Making a Harvard doctor -- Making an American surgeon -- A window on the brain -- Opening the closed box: the birth of neurosurgery -- The bottom of the box: interrogating the pituitary -- Adieu the simple life -- Adieu America: Cushing goes to war -- An American surgeon at Passchendaele -- Fathers and sons -- Johnson and Boswells: chief and harem -- Sprinting to the tape -- Regius professor at ale -- Closing: inheritance and memory; Notes and Sources; Acknowledgments; Illustration Credits; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Working at the John Hopkins Hospital during the early years of the 20th century, Harvey Cushing developed techniques which greatly advanced neurosurgical methods. This book looks at the life and career of a man who revolutionised brain surgery.