

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910968573303321
Autore	Polak-Sahm Varda
Titolo	The house of secrets : the hidden world of the mikveh / / Varda Polak-Sahm ; translated from the Hebrew by Anne Hartstein Pace
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Boston, : Beacon Press, c2009
ISBN	0-8070-7743-7
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (272 p.)
Disciplina	296.7/5
Soggetti	Mikveh Jewish women - Religious life Purity, Ritual - Judaism
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	The place -- The balaniyot -- A dose of impurity -- Blood and banishment -- Purity and sexuality -- Female rituals, sisterhood, and female authority -- Between a woman and God -- Between man and wife.
Sommario/riassunto	For Orthodox Jews, immersion in a ritual bath-the mikveh-is the cornerstone of family life and is central to Jewish women's practice of their faith. Yet women from across the Jewish spectrum frequent the mikveh, often for surprising personal reasons. Roused by her own immersion experience, for years Varda Polak-Sahm, a secular Jew, patiently observed and interviewed women at the mikveh, gaining unprecedented access to this hidden world. The House of Secrets offers a richly nuanced, uncensored look at an experience that is for some holy and for others coercive, ultimately illuminating the remarkable power of ritual immersion. From the Trade Paperback edition.