

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910969584803321
Autore	Lambos William A
Titolo	Cognitive and neuroscientific aspects of human love : a guide for marriage and couples counseling / / William A. Lambos and William G. Emener
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : Nova Science Publishers, c2010
ISBN	1-61324-226-3
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (422 p.)
Collana	Psychology of emotions, motivations and actions series
Altri autori (Persone)	EmenerWilliam G (William George)
Disciplina	616.89/1562
Soggetti	Marital psychotherapy Marriage counseling Couples therapy Love
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Foundations and basic concepts -- Theories of counseling and couples counseling -- Love, loving and romance -- Analytics: individual issues -- Analytics: individual issues -- Analytics: relationship analysis -- The past -- The individual and the couple -- The couple and the individual -- The couple in the world -- When the individual impacts the relationship -- When the relationship impacts the individual -- Relationship skills -- Relationship in the new millennium -- When your client seeks your help -- Ethics and professionalism.
Sommario/riassunto	This text is about the science of human love. The contents cover foundations and basic concepts, theories of counselling and couples counselling, when the individual impacts the relationship, the couple and the individual, the couple and the world, and much more.