Sommario/riassunto	This collection responds to the critical legacy of Penn R. Szittyá, the recently retired former chair of Georgetown UniversityGs English

Department. Inspired by Georgetown's Lannan Center for Poetics and Social Practice and its statement that poetry traverses the fields of aesthetic, social, political, and religious thought, this work investigates how medieval poetic language reflects and also shapes social, political, and religious worlds. At a moment in contemporary culture when poetry finds its value increasingly challenged, Medieval Poetics and Social Practice looks to the late Middle Ages
