

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910973357603321
Autore	Marschark Marc
Titolo	Raising and educating a deaf child / / Marc Marschark
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : Oxford University Press, 1997
ISBN	0-19-802548-3 1-280-47184-0 1-4237-3817-9 1-60256-336-5
Edizione	[2nd ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (256 p.)
Disciplina	362.4/2/083
Soggetti	Deaf children Deaf children - Language Parents of deaf children
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 215-220) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Foreword; 1. A Deaf Child in the Family; 2. Practical Aspects of Being Deaf; 3. Communicating with Deaf Children; 4. Early Interactions: The Roots of Childhood; 5. Language Development; 6. Going to School; 7. Learning to Read and Write; 8. Intelligence, Achievement, and Creativity; 9. Deaf Children to Deaf Adults; 10. We Do We Go from Here?; Glossary; Information Sources and Organizations Serving Deaf Children; Suggested Readings; Everyday Signs; Index
Sommario/riassunto	This book offers a readable, comprehensive summary including everything a parent or teacher would want to know about growing up deaf. Marschark studies topics ranging from what it means to be deaf and the uniqueness of Deaf culture to the medical causes of early hearing loss; from technological aids for the deaf to the many ways that the environment of home and school can influence a deaf child's chances for success in both academic and social circles. He makes sense of the most current educational and scientific literature, and also talks to deaf children, their parents, and deaf adults about