 Das Paradigma der Wertorientierung hat sich in der modernen Unternehmenssteuerung weitgehend durchgesetzt, bleibt aber oftmals auf die obersten Hierarchieebenen eines Unternehmens beschränkt. Der vom Autor entwickelte Ansatz verfolgt das Ziel, die wertorientierte Steuerung auf dezentrale Entscheidungsträger und operative Einheiten auszuweiten. Dazu wird eine produktbezogene Perspektive gewählt und als zentrale Steuerungsgröße ein wertorientierter Stück-Residualgewinn konzipiert. Aufbauend auf dem Konzept der Mengendiskontierung gelingt es, alle im Laufe eines Produktlebenszyklus anfallenden Kosten- und Erlösarten so in Stückgrößen zu transformieren, dass sie Steuerungsanforderungen gerecht werden. Im Rahmen eines Zielkostenmanagements können ein- und mehrperiodige Zielvorgaben abgeleitet und auf einzelne Verantwortungsbereiche disaggregiert werden.

Sommario/riassunto

"This book aims to honour the work of Professor Mirjan Damaska, Sterling Professor of Law at Yale Law School and a prominent authority for many years in the fields of comparative law, procedural law, evidence, international criminal law and Continental legal history. Professor Damaska's work is renowned for providing new frameworks for understanding different legal traditions. To celebrate the depth and richness of his work and discuss its implications for the future, the editors have brought together an impressive range of leading scholars from different jurisdictions in the fields of comparative and international law, evidence and criminal law and procedure. Using Professor Damaska's work as a backdrop, the essays make a substantial contribution to the development of comparative law, procedure and evidence. After an introduction by the editors and a tribute by Harold Koh, Dean of Yale Law School, the book is divided into four parts. The first part considers contemporary trends in national criminal procedure, examining cross-fertilisation and the extent to which these trends are resulting in converging practices across national jurisdictions. The second part explores the epistemological environment of rules of evidence and procedure. The third part analyses human rights standards and the phenomenon of hybridisation in transnational and international criminal law. The final part of the book assesses Professor Damaska's contribution to comparative law and the challenges faced by comparative law in the twenty first century."--Bloomsbury Publishing
