

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910974594503321
Autore	Clement, of Alexandria, Saint, <approximately 150-approximately 215.
Titolo	> Christ the educator / / translated by Simon P. Wood
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : Fathers of the Church, Inc., 1954
ISBN	0-8132-1123-9
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (334 p.)
Collana	The Fathers of the Church, a new translation ; ; v. 23
Altri autori (Persone)	WoodSimon P
Disciplina	248
Soggetti	Christian life - History - Early church, ca. 30-600
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Translation of Paedagogus.
Nota di bibliografia	Bibliography: p. xix.
Nota di contenuto	Intro -- Contents -- Book One -- 1. What the Educator of little ones professes to accomplish . . . -- 2. That it is because of our sinfulness that He has taken charge of us as Educator . . . -- 3. The Educator's love for men . . . -- 4. That the Word is the Educator of both men and women alike . . . -- 5. That all who seek the truth are children in God's eyes . . . -- 6. An answer to those who consider that the designation 'child' and 'little one' implies the teaching of purely elementary lessons . . . -- 7. Who the Educator of little ones is, and what sort of training He imparts . . . -- 8. An answer to those who refuse to consider justice good . . . -- 9. That it is the same faculty which performs acts of kindness and administers just punishment . . . -- 10. That it is through the same Word that God restrains mankind from sin by the use of threats and saves it by the use of encouragement . . . -- 11. That it is through the Law and the Prophets that the Word once educated . . . -- 12. That our Educator, in keeping with His paternal character, makes use of both severity and kindness . . . -- 13. That just as living virtuously is living according to right reason, so sin is contrary to reason . . . -- Book Two -- 1. How we should conduct ourselves in eating . . . -- 2. How we should act in drinking . . . -- 3. That we should not be overeager for precious vessels . . . -- 4. How we should enjoy ourselves at banquets . . . -- 5. On laughter . . . -- 6. On obscene talk . . . -- 7. What those who live peacefully together should avoid . . . -- 8. Whether ornaments and crowns should be used . . . -- 9. How we should regard sleep . . . -- 10. What is to be discussed in the matter of procreation of children . . . -- 11. Of footwear . . . -- 12. That we should not be dazzled by stones and gold . . . -- Book Three -- 1. On true beauty . . .

2. That we ought not to cultivate artificial beauty . . . -- 3. Against men who cultivate artificial beauty . . . -- 4. On the companions we should associate with . . . -- 5. How we should act at the baths . . . -- 6. That only the Christian is rich . . . -- 7. That frugality is an adequate means of sustenance for the Christian . . . -- 8. That images and examples are the most important part of good instruction . . . -- 9. On the motive permitting us to indulge in the baths . . . -- 10. That even bodily exercise is allowed to those who live according to reason . . . -- 11. A general summary of the more excellent way of life . . . -- 12. Continuation of the same, with many passages from Scripture describing the life of Christians . . .

Sommario/riassunto

No description available.
