

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910974770903321
Autore	Woodiwiss Anthony
Titolo	Making human rights work globally / / Anthony Woodiwiss
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London ; ; Portland, Or., : GlassHouse, 2003
ISBN	1-282-37619-5 1-283-60468-X 9786612376191 9786613917133 1-135-31124-2 1-84314-533-2
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (149 p.)
Disciplina	323
Soggetti	Human rights Employee rights
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [119]-129) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Front Cover; Making Human Rights Work Globally; Copyright Page; Preface; Contents; Introduction: Human rights as means; The need for a sociology of human rights; An outline of the argument; 1. Theorising a global social fact; Overcoming the reticence of sociology; Theory and the recognition of social difference; 2. International human rights and the silence concerning social difference; The birth of international human rights discourse; Making human rights enforceable; The juridification of human rights discourse; Conclusion 3. The plural forms of labour rights and the possibility of translationLiberal democracy, socialism and labour rights; Early industrialisers; Late industrialisers; Conclusion; 4. Making human rights work in familialist societies; Reconciling familialism and human rights; Late industrialisation, familialism and the development of labour rights; Post-colonial industrialisation, familialism and labour rights; Conclusion; 5. Justiciability and the need for cosmopolitan 'core' labour standards; The construction of an Ameri-centric core; The primacy of the ethical dimension; Towards a hybrid core The need for 'just and favourable conditions at work'Conclusion; 6.

Making labour rights justiciable in China; Human rights as an iron rice bowl; Guangdong and the 'open door'; Company law, employment law and the justiciability of labour rights; Justiciability in Guangdong Province; Workplace culture and justiciability; Conclusion; Conclusion: Making work for human rights; Postscript:10 May 2003; Appendix: The interview schedules; Bibliography; Index

Sommario/riassunto

This book is one of the first studies in the new field of the sociology of human rights, and it centres its analysis on labour rights. Such rights are of critical importance in this field, work being the defining aspect of many peoples lives and a central concern of sociology.
