Sommario/riassunto	This book by Doralice Lusardi explores the lives and histories of significant figures from Córdoba, Argentina. Through detailed biographical sketches, the author delves into the complexities of these individuals, ranging from historical figures like Gerónimo Luis de Cabrera to 20th-century activists such as Agustín Tosco. Lusardi aims to revive the memory of these personalities by examining their contributions and struggles, set against the backdrop of Argentine history. Written in an accessible style, the book invites readers to reflect on enduring human questions about justice, truth, and solidarity. Intended for a general audience, it combines historical analysis with literary expression.
