Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (194 p.)
Collana	Ceramic engineering & science proceedings ; ; 17/2
Altri autori (Persone)	WirtzGerald P <1937-> (Gerald Paul)
Disciplina	666.1
Soggetti	Glass Glass manufacture
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Ceramic Engineering & Science Proceedings Volume 17, Issue 2, 1996; Table of Contents; A New Approach to Joint Research and Development: Determining the Potential for a Partnership Between the Glass Industry and the Federal Government; Title V Permits in the Glass Industry: Making Them Simple, Comprehensive, and Flexible; Glass Furnace NOx Control with Gas Reburn; Particulate Emissions in Oxy-Fuel Fired Glass Furnaces; Demonstration on an Ultra-Low-NOx Oxygen-Fuel Glass Melting System; Volatilization During Thermal Plasma Processing of Glass Melts Containing Heavy Metals Glass Container Reuse: Refillables Hold Opportunity for Glass IndustryUse of Zinc Selenite in Glass Manufacture; Segregation Affects Glass Quality; Submerged Combustion Furnace for Glass Melts; Thermal Efficiencies of Float and Container Furnaces; Lift-Out Rolls and Lehr Rolls for Production of High-Quality Glass; Ongoing Investigation of Oxy-Fuel Firing Impact on Corrosion of Nonglass Contact Refractories, Part 2; Model-Based Evaluation of Oxy-Fuel Glass-Melting Furnace

Performance; Design Modeling of Glass Furnace Oxy-Fuel Conversion Using Three-Dimensional Combustion Models
Heat Transfer Optimization in TV Glass Furnaces
High-Performance Oxy-Fuel Melting: Three Flat Jet Burner Applications; Oxy-Fuel Economics Update Based on Case Histories; Is Your Glass Full of Water?; Corrosion of Silica and Mullite Refractories Used in Glass Furnaces Under 100% Oxy-Firing Process

Sommario/riassunto

This volume is part of the Ceramic Engineering and Science Proceeding (CESP) series. This series contains a collection of papers dealing with issues in both traditional ceramics (i.e., glass, whitewares, refractories, and porcelain enamel) and advanced ceramics. Topics covered in the area of advanced ceramic include bioceramics, nanomaterials, composites, solid oxide fuel cells, mechanical properties and structural design, advanced ceramic coatings, ceramic armor, porous ceramics, and more.

Sommario/riassunto	"Radics and Ciochini have deftly curated the contributions of new and established scholars in a work that amply illustrates why scholarship from the Global South matters in building knowledge and shaping theory." -Dee Smythe, Professor and Director of the Centre for Law and Society at the University of Cape Town, South Africa "The editors and authors not only show us how violence manifests in the Global South but also what we can learn from the diverse ways in which these populations respond to oppressive conditions and engage with the law." -Lynette J. Chua, Associate Professor of Law at the National University of Singapore and President of the Asian Law &amp; Society Association "Criminal Legalities' originality lies in the Southern perspective it adopts to document the specific forms that law and the criminal justice system take when they target disadvantaged groups in nations that are politically and culturally marginalized themselves." - Roberto Gargarella, Professor at the Universidad de Buenos Aires and Senior Researcher at National Research Center, Argentina This book explores how the law and the institutions of the criminal justice system expose minorities to different types of violence, either directly, through discrimination and harassment, or indirectly, by creating the conditions that make them vulnerable to violence from other groups of society. It draws on empirical insights across a broad array of communities and locales of the Global South. The book examines the challenges of protecting those at the margins of power, especially those whom the law is often used to oppress. George B. Radics is Senior Lecturer in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at the National University of Singapore (NUS) and holds a joint appointment with NUS College. Pablo Ciocchini is Honorary Research Fellow in the Department of Sociology, Social Policy and Criminology at the University of Liverpool, UK, and Research Associate in the Institute for Legal Culture of the National University of La Plata, Argentina.
