

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9911003681403321
Autore	Irwin-Rogers Keir
Titolo	Preventing Violence : The Past, Present and Future of the Public Health Approach
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Bristol : , : Policy Press, , 2025 ©2025
ISBN	1-4473-7386-3
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (0 pages)
Altri autori (Persone)	BillinghamLuke FraserAlistair <1982-> GillonFern McVieSusan NewburnTim
Disciplina	363.3217
Soggetti	Public health Criminology
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di contenuto	Front Cover -- Preventing Violence The Past, Present and Future of the Public Health Approach -- Copyright Page -- Table of Contents -- List of figures and tables -- About the authors -- Acknowledgements -- Introduction -- Scope -- 'Youth violence' -- Geographic focus -- Generalisability -- Trends in violence -- The causes of interpersonal violence -- Root causes -- Direct causes -- The ecological framework -- The relationship between shame, mattering, and violence -- The public health approach to violence prevention -- The limitations of existing interpretations of the public health approach -- Advancing the public health approach using the 'Four Is' framework -- Researching the public health approach to violence prevention -- Interviews and focus groups -- Documentary analysis -- Police-recorded crime data -- Workshops with regional VRUs -- Ethics -- Summary -- Structure and style -- Part I: A short history of the public health approach to violence prevention
Sommario/riassunto	This book explores the public health approach to preventing interpersonal violence, focusing on its application in England and Wales. Authored by experts in criminology, the work examines the history, current practices, and future directions of this approach. It provides an in-depth analysis of Violence Reduction Units (VRUs), their development, and the challenges they face. The authors argue for a more comprehensive and coordinated strategy to address violence, emphasizing evidence-based interventions and multi-agency collaboration. The intended audience includes policymakers, researchers, and professionals in public health, criminology, and social policy, seeking to develop safer societies through informed strategies for violence prevention.
