

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9911012592303321
Autore	Eerola Petteri
Titolo	Caring Fathers in the Global Context
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Bristol : , : Policy Press, , 2025 ©2025
ISBN	1-4473-7244-1
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (0 pages)
Altri autori (Persone)	TwamleyKatherine PirskanenHenna Romero-BalsasPedro
Disciplina	306.8742
Soggetti	Fatherhood Parenting
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di contenuto	Front Cover -- Caring Fathers in the Global Context -- Copyright Page -- Table of Contents -- List of figures and tables -- Notes on contributors -- Editors -- Authors -- Acknowledgements -- Foreword -- Part I Introduction to caring fatherhood -- 1 Why study fathers and care? -- What do we know about how fathers care? -- What do we know about what facilitates fathers' involvement in care? -- Summaries of the chapters -- References -- 2 The who, what and how of care in caring fatherhood: an ecological care ethics approach -- Introduction -- What is a caring father? (Don and Yvonne, 2004–2014) -- Don and Yvonne: 'stars' of my study? -- Revisiting: and so, is Don still a caring father? -- Methodologies and epistemologies: mapping a knowledge-making approach about care and with care -- Historical and conceptual narratives of caring fatherhood -- Gender divisions of domestic labour -- Father involvement and caring fatherhood -- a caring father? -- What is the care in caring fatherhood? -- How is the care in caring fatherhood measured? -- Care-centric conceptual narratives and caring fathers -- Historical narratives of care

Who is

Sommario/riassunto

This book, edited by Petteri Eerola, Katherine Twamley, Henna Pirskanen, and Pedro Romero-Balsas, explores the concept of caring fatherhood across diverse global contexts. Drawing on interdisciplinary research, it examines how fathers engage in caregiving roles within different cultural, social, and economic settings. The work addresses themes such as gender roles, parental leave policies, and the impact of crises like the COVID-19 pandemic on fathering practices. It also investigates the experiences of marginalized fathers, including refugees, queer parents, and those raising children with disabilities. The book is intended for academic researchers, policymakers, and practitioners interested in family studies, gender equality, and social policy, aiming to provide a nuanced understanding of fatherhood and caregiving in contemporary society.
