Sommario/riassunto	"Women leadership in the construction industry is a catalyst for positive change, bringing diverse perspectives, innovative thinking, and strong collaboration skills to the forefront. As trailblazers in traditionally male-dominated roles, female leaders inspire and pave the way for future generations. Their ability to navigate challenges, foster inclusive work environments, and drive results sets them apart. Women leaders in construction contribute to the industry's growth, reshape its culture, and establish new standards of excellence and success"-- Provided by publisher.
