Sommario/riassunto	The book is a festschrift honoring Andrei S. Markovits on his 70th birthday, compiled by editors Heiko Beyer and Martin Krauß. It is a collection of diverse essays and reflections from colleagues, friends, and students, celebrating Markovits's contributions to academia and his influence on political and cultural discourse. The volume examines themes such as European and American political dynamics, the role of sports in society, green politics, and cultural observations, reflecting Markovits's cosmopolitan and interdisciplinary approach. It aims to capture his generosity and passion, making it a tribute both personal and professional, suitable for scholars and enthusiasts of political science and cultural studies.
