

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910148870803321
Autore	Morrison Simon
Titolo	Bolshoi Confidential : Secrets of the Russian Ballet - From the Rule of the Tsars to the Age of Putin
Pubbl/distr/stampa	HarperCollins UK
ISBN	0-00-814104-5
Disciplina	792.80947
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Musica
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Sommario/riassunto	On a freezing night in January 2013, an assailant hurled acid in the face of the artistic director of the Bolshoi Ballet, Sergei Filin. The crime, organized by a lead soloist, dragged one of Russia's most illustrious institutions into scandal. Under Vladimir Putin, the Bolshoi Theatre has been called on to preserve Russia's lengthy artistic legacy and to mirror its neo-imperial ambitions. As renowned musicologist Simon Morrison shows in his tour-de-force account, the attack, and its torrid aftermath, underscored the importance of the Bolshoi to the art of ballet, to Russia, and to the world. With exclusive access to state archives and private sources, Morrison sweeps us through the history of the ballet, tracing the political ties that bind the institution to the varying Russian regimes, and detailing the birth of some of the best-loved ballets in the repertoire. From its disreputable beginnings in 1776, the Bolshoi became a point of pride for the tsarist empire after the defeat of Napoleon in 1812. After the revolution, Moscow was transformed into a global capital; meetings of the Communist Party were hosted at the Bolshoi, and the Soviet Union was signed into existence on its stage. Recently, a £450 million restoration has returned the Bolshoi to its former glory, even as prized talent has departed. The Theatre has been bombed, rigged with explosives and reinforced with cement. Its dancers have suffered unimaginable physical torment to climb the ranks. But, as Morrison reveals, the Bolshoi has transcended its own fraught history, surviving 250 years of artistic and political upheaval to define not only Russian culture but also ballet itself.

2. Record Nr.

Titolo

UNINA9911034569403321

Bridging Governance, Public Support, Innovation, and Transparency : A Combined Approach to Sustainable Development in Europe / / edited by Bodo E. Steiner, Inna Makarenko

Pubbl/distr/stampa

Cham : , : Springer Nature Switzerland : , : Imprint : Palgrave Macmillan, , 2026

ISBN

3-031-94082-2

Edizione

[1st ed. 2026.]

Descrizione fisica

1 online resource (XII, 177 p. 13 illus., 12 illus. in color.)

Collana

Business and Management Series

Disciplina

658.42

Soggetti

Corporate governance
Technological innovations
Industrial management - Environmental aspects
Corporate Governance
Innovation and Technology Management
Corporate Environmental Management

Lingua di pubblicazione

Inglese

Formato

Materiale a stampa

Livello bibliografico

Monografia

Nota di contenuto

Chapter 1: Social Preferences Towards the Environment: Assessing and Quantifying Public Support for Sustainable Development by Oksana Liashenko -- Chapter 2: Empowering Local Authorities for Sustainable Development The Council of Europes Role in Promoting Human RightsBased Approaches by Natalia Mishyna -- Chapter 3: Sustainability Transparency in the Banking Sector by Inna Makarenko and Bodo E. Steiner -- Chapter 4: EU Insights on Innovative Entrepreneurship Ecosystems Following Sustainable Development Goals by Oksana Khymych -- Chapter 5: Barriers to Progress How Geopolitical Risks Affect the EUs SDG Agenda by Ruslana Kuzina and Bodo E Steiner.

Sommario/riassunto

Sustainable development can be achieved by organisations in a supportive environment that includes a culture of transparency, accountability and shared values. This short, open access contributed volume presents an overview of sustainable development practices through a comprehensive analysis of various initiatives, frameworks, and challenges faced by both governments and businesses in the pursuit of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). It includes data-driven insights and analysis, as well as practical tools, policy recommendations, and theoretical frameworks to address sustainability challenges, with a particular focus on entrepreneurship, sustainable development governance and the impact of geopolitical risks on SDG progress. With a focus on the European Union and Ukraine, this book includes several interconnected chapters that each explore a different contributing factor required for successful sustainable development governance. Fully open access, it will be of great interest to students and scholars of sustainable development practices, sustainable governance and innovation, as well as practitioners and policymakers looking for strategic insights for sustainable business in the European Union. Bodo Steiner is Professor of Food Economics and Business Management at the University of Helsinki, Finland. He is also head of the research group Management and Organizations For Sustainable Food Systems, and Deputy Director at the Department of Economics and Management.. He has previously held faculty and visiting appointments at the University of Alberta, University of California - Berkeley, University College Cork, University of Kiel, and University of Southern Denmark. His research interests focus on social and environmental sustainability issues in global agri-food value chains and food systems, with particular focus on social capital and organizational networks. Inna Makarenko is a Professor of Accounting and Taxation at Sumy State University, Ukraine. She is also a Lecturer in Sustainable Finance and Accounting at the University of Helsinki, Finland. Her interdisciplinary research interests are in corporate transparency and accountability, non-financial measurement of business performance and accounting and assurance issues around the incorporation of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG).

---