

|                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Record Nr.           | UNINA9911042410503321                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Autore                  | Arasteh Hamidreza                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Titolo                  | Data-Driven Energy Management and Tariff Optimization in Power Systems : Shaping the Future of Electricity Distribution Through Analytics                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Pubbl/distr/stampa      | Newark : , : John Wiley & Sons, Incorporated, , 2025©2026                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| ISBN                    | 1-394-29029-21-394-29030-61-394-29028-4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Edizione                | [1st ed.]                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Descrizione fisica      | 1 online resource (320 pages)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Altri autori (Persone)  | SianoPierluigiMoslemiNikiGuerreroJosep M                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Disciplina              | 333.7932                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Soggetti                | Electric power systems - ManagementEnergy consumption - Forecasting                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Lingua di pubblicazione | Inglese                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Formato                 | Materiale a stampa                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Livello bibliografico   | Monografia                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Nota di contenuto       | Cover -- Title Page -- Copyright -- Contents -- About the Editors -- List of Contributors -- Preface -- Chapter 1 Fundamentals of Power System Data and Analytics -- 1.1 Introduction -- 1.2 Background -- 1.2.1 Concept, Opportunities, and Challenges of Present and Future Power Systems -- 1.2.2 Transformation in the Power Industry -- 1.2.3 Drivers and Barriers -- 1.3 Datarich Power Systems -- 1.3.1 Data Sources and Types -- 1.3.2 Data Structure -- 1.4 Data Analytics in Power Systems -- 1.4.1 What Is Data Analytics? -- 1.4.2 Analytics Techniques -- 1.5 Data AnalyticsBased DecisionMaking in Future Power Systems -- 1.5.1 Decision Framework -- 1.5.1.1 Uncertainty Issues -- 1.5.1.2 Behavioral Analytics -- 1.5.1.3 Policy Mechanisms -- 1.5.2 Computational Aspects -- 1.6 Conclusion -- 1.7 Future Trends and Challenges -- References -- Chapter 2 Advanced Predictive Modeling for Energy Consumption and Demand -- 2.1 The Role of Load Forecasting in Power System Planning -- 2.2 Need for ShortTerm Demand Forecasting -- 2.3 Components of Power Demand and Factors |

Affecting Demand Growth -- 2.3.1 Electricity Demand from the Consumer Type Perspective -- 2.3.2 Electricity Demand from the Supply Perspective -- 2.4 Electricity Demand in Networks with High Renewable Energy Sources -- 2.5 Machine Learning and Its Applications in Demand Forecast -- 2.5.1 Application of Clustering in Load Forecasting -- 2.6 The Impact of Macrodecisions on Longterm Load Forecasting -- 2.6.1 Natural Gas as a Primary Energy Carrier for Heating Demand -- 2.7 Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 3 Demand Response and CustomerCentric Energy Management -- 3.1 Introduction -- 3.2 Background -- 3.3 Future Power Systems Aspects, Trends, and Challenges -- 3.4 Transforming to CustomerCentric Era -- 3.4.1 Differences Between CustomerCentric DR Solution and Other Ways in the Future Power System. 3.4.2 Drivers and Enablers -- 3.5 CustomerCentric Power System Structure -- 3.5.1 Physical Layer -- 3.5.1.1 Physical Resources -- 3.5.1.2 Physical Constraints of the System -- 3.5.2 CyberSocial Layers -- 3.5.2.1 Centralized Approach (Traditional) -- 3.5.2.2 Decentralized Approach (Future) -- 3.6 Conclusion and Future Trends -- References -- Chapter 4 Applications of Data Mining in Industrial Tariff Design and Energy Management: Concepts and Practical Insights -- 4.1 Introduction -- 4.1.1 Data Mining: Concepts, Procedures, and Tools -- 4.1.2 Energy Management and the Role of Data Mining -- 4.1.3 Aims and Scope -- 4.2 Investigating Industrial Load Data: Analysis Through Various Indexes -- 4.3 Classification of Industries -- 4.4 Discussion and Conclusions -- References -- Chapter 5 DataDriven Tariff Design for Equitable Energy Distribution -- 5.1 Introduction -- 5.1.1 Literature Review and Contributions -- 5.1.2 Chapter Organization -- 5.2 Proposed Approach and Formulations -- 5.3 Describing the Case Study -- 5.4 Simulation Results -- 5.5 Conclusions and Future Works -- References -- Chapter 6 Applying Artificial Intelligence to Improve the Penetration of Renewable Energy in Power Systems -- 6.1 Introduction -- 6.2 Machine Learning Techniques -- 6.2.1 Artificial Neural Network and Deep Neural Network -- 6.2.2 Convolutional Neural Network -- 6.2.3 Recurrent Neural Network -- 6.2.4 Long ShortTerm Memory -- 6.3 General View of ML/DL Methods for RES Integration -- 6.3.1 Data Preprocessing -- 6.3.1.1 Normalization -- 6.3.1.2 Wrong/Missing Values and Outliers -- 6.3.1.3 Data Resolution -- 6.3.1.4 Inactive Time Data -- 6.3.1.5 Data Augmentation -- 6.3.1.6 Correlation -- 6.3.1.7 Data Clustering -- 6.3.2 Deterministic/Probabilistic Forecasting Methods -- 6.3.2.1 Deterministic Methods -- 6.3.2.2 Probabilistic Forecasting Methods -- 6.3.3 Evaluation Measures. 6.4 ML/DL Application for Integration of RES -- 6.4.1 Renewable Resources Data Prediction/Planning -- 6.4.2 RES Power Generation Prediction/Operation -- 6.4.3 Electric Load and Demand Forecasting -- 6.4.4 Stability Analysis -- 6.4.4.1 Security Assessment -- 6.4.4.2 Stability Assessment -- 6.5 Integrated Machine Learning and Optimization Approach -- 6.6 Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 7 Machine LearningBased Solutions for Renewable Energy Integration -- 7.1 Introduction -- 7.2 Machine Learning Importance in RESs Sector -- 7.2.1 AIBased Algorithms in RESs -- 7.2.2 ML Algorithms Application in RESs -- 7.3 Role of ML in Optimizing Renewable Energy Generation -- 7.3.1 Different Programming Models in RES Optimization -- 7.3.2 Optimization Objectives in RESs -- 7.3.3 ML Applications in Optimizing Renewable Energy Generation -- 7.4 Ensuring Grid Stability Through MLBased Forecasting -- 7.4.1 Grid Stability Forecasting -- 7.4.2 Grid Stability Through MLBased Forecasting -- 7.5 Challenges and Future Direction in MLBased Approaches to RESs -- 7.5.1 Challenges in ML Based Approaches to RESs -- 7.5.2 Future Directions in MLBased

Approaches to RESs -- 7.6 Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 8
Application of Artificial Neural Networks in Solar Photovoltaic Power
Forecasting -- 8.1 RES Share in World Energy Transition -- 8.2
Applications of PV Panels in Energy Systems -- 8.3 Disadvantages of PV
Panels -- 8.4 Importance of PV Power Forecasting -- 8.5 Proposed Algorithm for PV Power Prediction -- 8.6 Numerical Results and Discussions -- 8.7 Concluding Remarks -- References -- Chapter 9
Power System Resilience Evaluation Data Challenges and Solutions --
9.1 Introduction -- 9.2 A Review of Power System Resilience Metrics --
9.3 The General Framework for the Resilience Assessment of the Power
System -- 9.4 Data Required for Power System Resilience Studies.
9.4.1 Data of Natural Origin -- 9.4.2 Basic Data of the Power System --
9.4.3 Data on Failure and Restoration Rates -- 9.5 Data Analysis and Correction -- 9.6 Disaster Forecasting in Power System Resilience
Studies -- 9.7 Modeling the Impact of Disaster on Power System
Performance -- 9.8 Static Model in Machine Learning -- 9.9
Spatiotemporal Random Process -- 9.9.1 Dynamic Model for Chain
Failures -- 9.9.2 Nonstationary FailureRecoveryImpact Processes --
9.10 Lessons Learned and Concluding Remarks -- 9.11 Future Work --
References -- Chapter 10 Nonintrusive Load Monitoring in Smart Grids
Using Deep Learning Approach -- 10.1 Introduction -- 10.2 Deep
Learning Neural Networks -- 10.2.1 RNN -- 10.2.2 LSTM -- 10.2.3
CNN -- 10.2.4 Convolutional Layer -- 10.2.5 Pooling Layer -- 10.2.6
Fully Connected Layer -- 10.3 The Proposed Method -- 10.3.1 Pre
Processing and Preparing Data -- 10.3.2 Proposed Method Architecture
-- 10.3.3 Proposed Method's Parameters -- 10.3.4 Performance
Evaluation -- 10.4 Results and Discussion -- 10.5 Challenges and Future Trends -- 10.6 Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 11 Power
System CyberPhysical Security and Resiliency Based on DataDriven
Methods -- 11.1 Introduction -- 11.2 Fundamental Concepts -- 11.2.1
CyberPhysical Power System (CPPS) -- 11.2.2 Security and Resiliency
-- 11.3 Role of Data Analytics -- 11.3.1 Basic Methods -- 11.3.1.1
Supervised Learning (SL) -- 11.3.1.2 Unsupervised Learning (UL) --
11.3.2 Advanced Techniques -- 11.3.2.1 Dimensionality Reduction (DR)
-- 11.3.2.2 Feature Engineering -- 11.3.2.3 Reinforcement Learning --
11.3.2.4 Integrated Models -- 11.4 Interdependency Modeling --
11.4.1 Direct Modeling -- 11.4.2 Testbeds -- 11.4.3 GameTheoretic
-- 11.4.4 Machine Learning -- 11.5 CyberPhysical Threats -- 11.5.1
Physical Attacks -- 11.5.2 Cyberattacks -- 11.5.2.1 Confidentiality.
11.5.2.2 Availability -- 11.5.2.3 Integrity -- 11.5.3 Coordinated
Attacks -- 11.6 Defense Framework -- 11.6.1 Preventive Measures --
11.6.1.1 Supply Chain Security -- 11.6.1.2 Access Control -- 11.6.1.3
Personnel Training -- 11.6.1.4 Resource Allocation -- 11.6.1.5
Infrastructure Hardening -- 11.6.1.6 Moving Target Defense -- 11.6.2
Mitigation Actions -- 11.6.2.1 Attack Detection -- 11.6.2.2 Data
Recovery -- 11.6.2.3 Reconfiguration and Restoration -- 11.6.2.4
Forensic Analysis -- 11.7 Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 12
Application of Artificial Intelligence in Undervoltage Load Shedding in Digitalized Power Systems -- 12.1 Introduction -- 12.2 LoadShedding
Strategies -- 12.2.1 Conventional LS -- 12.2.2 Adaptive LS -- 12.2.3
AIBased LS -- 12.3 Principles of UVLS -- 12.3.1 Amount of Load Shed
-- 12.3.2 Location for LS -- 12.3.3 Application of VSI for UVLS -- 12.4
AIBased Methods -- 12.5 Case Study -- 12.5.1 Database Generation
-- 12.5.2 Offline Training -- 12.5.3 Online Application -- 12.6 Future
Challenges and Transfer Learning -- 12.7 Conclusion -- References --
Index -- EULA.

in Power Systems offers an authoritative examination of how data science is reshaping the energy landscape.

---