

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9911064743303321
Autore	Berger Stefan
Titolo	Collective Memory of Economic Crises and Transformations // edited by Stefan Berger, Thomas Fetzer
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Cham : , : Springer Nature Switzerland : , : Imprint : Palgrave Macmillan, , 2026
ISBN	3-032-09094-6
Edizione	[1st ed. 2026.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (265 pages)
Collana	Palgrave Macmillan Memory Studies, , 2634-6265
Altri autori (Persone)	Berger
Disciplina	907.2
Soggetti	Collective memory Economic history International economic relations Memory Studies Economic History International Political Economy'
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di contenuto	-- Introduction: Collective Memory in the Context of Economic Crises and Transformations -- Part I Cyclical Economic Crises -- Battles of Narratives, Battles of Memory: Making Sense of the Ebbs and Flows of the Memory of the Great Depression -- Collective Famine Memories and the Economies of Catastrophe -- Part II Structural Change of Industrial Societies -- Industrial Heritage as a Consequence of Structural Economic Transformations: Rival Conceptualizations in Comparative Perspective -- Industrial Mnemoscapes of Post-Socialism: Heritage Legacies and Diverging Economic Memories -- Part III Systematic Political Transformations -- To Remember Impossible to Forget: The Memory of Entrepreneurship in the Late 19th – Early 21st Century in Ukraine -- Memories of Empire and Embedded Banking: Austrian Bankers Investing in Central Eastern Europe in the 1990s -- Part IV Economic Internationalization -- Impact of the Memory of Kaikoku (Opening the Country to the World) on the Course of Industrialization in Early Meiji Japan -- Harking Back to the 'Golden Age' of National Economies: German Memory Narratives in Times of

"This is a pathbreaking book which explores the multiple inter-connections between the economic and the mnemonic – sorely neglected in the memory studies literature over recent decades – in a timely and stimulating way. The editors articulate a clear agenda and the chapters are coherently structured around it, as well as being exceptionally well-written. The book will be read with great profit by scholars and students from across the humanities and social sciences." —Patrick Finney, Faculty of Humanities, Aberystwyth University, UK

This book seeks to advance a more systematic analysis of the relationship between collective memory and the economy. It addresses the fields of memory studies where economic aspects are underexplored, and of economic history/political economy, where few scholars take collective memory seriously. Contributions employ different concepts, approaches, and methodologies to the study of collective memory, and they address a variety of specific empirical aspects, brought together under the broad theme of economic crises and transformations in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Taken together, the contributions highlight the role of memory narratives for the political management of economic transformations, as well as their significance for longer-term social and cultural change. Chapter 8 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com.

Stefan Berger is Professor of Social History and Director of the Institute for Social Movements at Ruhr-Universität Bochum. He is also executive chair of the Foundation History of the Ruhr and Honorary Professor at Cardiff University in the UK. He has published widely on nationalism, memory, deindustrialization, industrial heritage and the history of historiography. His latest monograph is History and Identity: How Historical Theory Shaped Historical Practice (2022). Thomas Fetzer is Associate Professor at the Department of International Relations, Central European University. His research and publications focus on social and cultural dimensions of international economic integration. He is particularly interested in the relationship between nationalism and political economy. Publications include Paradoxes of Internationalization: British and German trade unions at Ford and General Motors, 1967–2000 (2012), and, as co-editor (with Stefan Berger), Nationalism and Economy: Explorations into a Neglected Relationship (2019).
