Sommario/riassunto	This volume examines the reception and application of Pope Pius X's 1907 encyclical 'Pascendi dominici gregis,' which condemned modernism as a heresy. The book compiles and analyzes reports from diocesan bishops and religious order superiors worldwide, submitted between 1908 and 1914, detailing their implementation of the encyclical's measures. It provides insights into the global response to the modernist crisis within Roman Catholicism, exploring themes such as doctrinal enforcement, disciplinary actions, and the broader implications for the Church during the early 20th century. The research is based on archival materials from institutions such as the Vatican Secret Archives and the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith.
