Sommario/riassunto	In order to measure the dynamics of flow-performance relationships for a multi-domicile sample, Simon Weiler applies existing flow-performance research methods to a broad set of European equity (UCITS) funds and proves that major findings (performance-chasing behaviour and a convex flow-performance relationship) also hold true in a cross-border market environment. Contents Status-Quo of flow-performance research Properties of the European mutual fund industry Outperformance and performance persistence Empiric evidence: Flow-performance characteristics for European equity (UCITS) funds Target Groups Researchers and students in the field of asset management and behavioral finance Professionals of international asset management companies or fund service providers The Author Simon Weiler works as a research analyst and consultant for an international fund research and information provider. .
