

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996206007803316
Autore	Bruhn John G
Titolo	The Sociology of Community Connections [[electronic resource] /] / by John G. Bruhn
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Boston, MA : , : Springer US, , 2005
ISBN	0-387-69461-7 1-280-80009-7 9786610800094 0-306-48617-2
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (317 p.)
Disciplina	307
Soggetti	Social sciences Sociology Personality Social psychology Community psychology Environmental psychology Social Sciences Sociology, general Personality and Social Psychology Community and Environmental Psychology
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Social Connections -- Conceptions of Community: Past and Present -- Common Ties: Immigrant and Ethnic Communities -- Fragmented Ties: The Poor and The Homeless -- Communities in Crisis: Reconnecting Frayed Social Ties -- Communities of Exclusion and Excluded Communities: Barriers to Neighboring -- Connections of Faith: Religion as Community -- Vital Bonds: Social Support, Social Networks and Health -- The Social Internet: Cybercommunities -- Solitary Communities: Disconnecting From the Common Good -- Notes -- References -- Index.
Sommario/riassunto	Intervention to bring about beneficial social change is the theme of this second edition of Sociological Practice. Written for upper division and graduate students interested in careers in sociological practice or applied sociology, the authors show how sociological theories and methods can be used in intervening to solve or prevent current social problems. The books include Applications, Tables, and Figures to expand upon and illustrate the narrative text. Changes to this edition include up to date coverage of all topics including a new chapter on multifactor multilevel problem solving.
