

1. Record Nr.	UNISA996213076603316
Autore	Macdougald-Denton M. Stuart
Titolo	Compliance with CDM regulations : what all designers should know // M. Stuart Macdougald-Denton
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London : , : Hawksmere, , [1998] ©1998
ISBN	1-85418-504-7
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (136 p.)
Collana	A Hawksmere Report
Disciplina	721
Soggetti	Construction industry - Law and legislation - Great Britain
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	The author; Contents; Introduction; Chapter 1 The health and safety legislative context of the CDM regulations; Chapter 2 The CDM Regulations: roles and duties; Chapter 3 Advising the client; Chapter 4 Good practice in design-risk management; Chapter 5 Designer competence; Chapter 6 Contents of the health and safety plan and file; Chapter 7 Commissions, appointments, agreements and liabilities; Appendix I The Construction (Health, Safety and Welfare) Regulations 1996 - interpretation; Appendix II The application of the CDM Regulations - a diagrammatic explanation Appendix III Hazard identification and risk assessment pro-forma - two stage assessments Appendix IV Hazard identification and risk assessment pro-forma - three stage assessments; Appendix V Typical questionnaire for designers; Appendix VI Typical resource allocation
Sommario/riassunto	Aims to present a statement of best practice methods to ensure that designers comply with the Construction Design and Management Regulations 1994. This book is intended for those who prepare a design or who arrange for someone under his or her control to prepare a design relating to a structure or part of a structure.