Note generali	Refereed/Peer-reviewed In 1879, the Stazione Zoologica Anton Dohrn began to publish its own journal, Mittheilungen aus der Zoologischen Station zu Neapel (since 1916, Pubblicazioni della Stazione Zoologica di Napoli), which contained relevant work done at the Stazione by staff and visiting investigators. The increasing number of specialist journals with a wide international readership led to a reorganization, and the journal was divided into two separate publications each dealing with a topic not entirely covered by other international journals: Marine Ecology (since 2005, Marine Ecology: an evolutionary perspective) and History and Philosophy of the Life Sciences.
