Sommario/riassunto	Praise for Trading Options inTurbulent Markets "Of the five basic variables that drive option pricing models, the volatility assumption is far and away the most impactful. Mr. Shover's definitive work, exploring all aspects of the world of volatility, truly is a gift to the investing public." — William Floersch , President and CEO, Fortis Clearing Americas, LLC "There are a myriad of 'Options 101' books for the beginning options investor and painfully lengthy and dry graduate-level books on advanced strategies. Larry has found the sweet spot in between, offering a great book on intermediate option strategies. I can heartily endorse Trading Options in Turbulent Markets as THE book for investors seeking to enhance their knowledge of derivative trading and createa low-risk, high-return investment game plan." — Jon "Doctor J" Najarian , cofounder, tradeMONSTER.com "Mr. Shover has managed to marry a thoughtful presentation of volatility as it relates to options pricing and options trading, with a narrative that goes beyond the purely theoretical and focuses on the practical implications of this

'measure of instability' (first line of Chapter 2) for those who use options. In light of the tumultuous events that have churned the global financial markets, a read on the practical implications of volatility seems prudent for all who choose to employ options." — Pat Arbor , Chairman Emeritus, CBOT, and current Director of First Chicago Bank and Trust "Shover's book offers valuable insights from his real-life experience in trading volatile markets." — Jim Bittman , Senior Instructor, The Options Institute at CBOE, and author of Trading Options as a Professional "Larry Shover was a successful options trader in his years at CRT and a valuable member of our team. His book is both accessible and informative, and its pages are filled with insights gained from many years of experience. Larry writes with passion and acumen, making this a book that will do more than just sit on your shelf." — Joseph Ritchie , founder, Chicago Research and Trading Group (CRT); founder and Chairman, Fox River Financial Resources, Inc.; and CEO, Rwanda Development Board
